HAPI Showcase — Test Scenarios — for User Acceptance (UA) Phase 2

- Role: BA — Imraan Mohammed
- Date: Sprint 3, Week 1 (Week 8) — Sat, 17th Oct 2026 (Version 5.0)
- Status: Draft (Version 5.0)
- Details: This document includes test scenarios which are derived from the `requirements-specification.md` document, covering three perspectives: General/Public Access, Student/Developer Access and Admin Access from an end-user perspective, alongside any edge cases identified during feedback sessions from the client and our PM (Nirmal Rajesh). Revision (v5.0) restructures the document into Phase 1 for Completed tests and Phase 2 being the current stage. This shall align UAT scenarios with the updated Requirements Specification from v9.0 while retaining the necessary WCAG Accessibility Testing Scenarios.
- Related Document: The signed Client Project Proposal organised by our PM (Nirmal Rajesh) and the Sprint 1 Week 1's Requirements Specification Document prepared myself, the BA (Imraan Mohammed), which covers functional and non-functional requirements, edge cases and design guides, all are related documents and are referenced in this document as a source of truth.
  - Signed Client Project Proposal (PDF)
  - `requirements-specification.md` (MD file - Version 9.0)
  - `requirements-specification.pdf` (PDF file - Version 9.0)
- Scope Note: This document shall simply define testable scenarios covering the functional requirements and edge cases covered in the Requirements Specification Document, from a General/Public, Student/Developer and Admin Access perspective. A draft set of WCAG Accessibility Testing Scenarios shall now also be included as part of this revision, covering basic guidelines named in the Specification Requirements Document. Backend and Infrastructure concerns, including hosting, storage, database and security/encryption matters, shall be acknowledged as important but sit outside a user acceptance scope, and excluded from this document for now. This document shall be a working checklist against the Requirements Specification Document, and shall be further refined iteratively in the final sprint after feedback and review from the team and client.

User Experience (UX) Testing Results & Feedback:

- In addition to functional User Acceptance Testing (UAT), a subjective and experience-based testing was also conducted during Sprint 3 Week 1 (Week 7 of Project Lifecycle) via a focus group of six invited participants, work colleagues of the client Michael, whose emails were shared with the HAPI Showcase Project team for consideration as the UX Focus Group participants. Ultimately, feedback was received from two reviewers, which shall complement the UAT Testing Scenario checklist covered separately for functional requirements and acting as a guide for the UX Designer Max Thum, and serves as a baseline for the HAPI team to reference when considering future improvements after handover. Overall, the UX Focus Group Survey feedback results were mixed but constructive, with the two testers largely viewing the site through an "App Store" like lens, which was intentional, though some felt it lacked visual engagement or uniqueness in its presentation. Responses ranged from neutral like "clean, boring, standard" to more critical "unimaginative, confusing, limited". The main actionable critiques considered included the following:
    1. "View More" Button Contrast: The "View More" button in the Featured Projects section of the welcome homepage lacked colour contrast and was easily overlooked, appearing as plain text against the "Featured Projects" subtitle rather than appear as a clear button. As of Sprint 3 Week 3 this has suggested change has been implemented, updating the button to appear clearly with improved colour contrast.
    2. Categories Page Clarity: The Categories page lacked clear subheadings to indicate what each category represents, due to the category page link in the header menu redirecting users back to the welcome homepage, as the page was still in development. As of Sprint 3 Week 3 the page has been updated with visuals from the UX and implementation by Devs to clarify the categories and their associated projects.
    3. Project Context Confusion: Testers were unsure whether they were browsing student projects or professional AppStore apps, with one commenting that the landing page "looks like a search result from the Apple Store" and does not "sell the uniqueness" of each app. This was understood to be an expected outcome of the survey test as the site was populated with real, well-known AppStore apps as a placeholder, pending final approval by the HAPI team upon project closure to showcase live student projects post handover.
    4. Static Appearance: Feedback describing the site as "simple" or "boring" was understood as a reflection of the site's static appearance without transitions. Transition effects were considered for the hero art of the Project Spotlight sections, but were ultimately descoped due to time constraints, with higher-priority client requirements and key refinements taking precedence.

Handoff Notes for Dev Team (Nick Moore & Max Ivanovic):

- The remaining WCAG Accessibility Requirements Consideration is the "arrow" button functionality for keyboard only users to select and rank featured projects rather than rely on mouse dragging alone.
- Other remaining updates include: individual projects page linking to associated showcase page, sorting feature on Admin Dashboard, and lastly Umami Analytics dashboard access via dedicated link in the Analytics section.

Deliverable:

- This Testing Scenarios document shall be delivered as a markdown file `.md`, named `testing-scenarios-ua.md` and committed to the project's `docs/` directory alongside the Requirements Specification document.
- The document shall be shared as a deliverable with the PM (Nirmal Rajesh) and the rest of the team ahead of the final client meeting for review and discussion.
